Welcome! We are very pleased you will join us in autumn. Please see below a few readings to get you going on your core papers. Starred texts are key and will constitute part of your reading once you begin your studies in October.

1101 Introduction to the Study of the Bible

There is no substitute for the primary texts, so please make sure you have read the Bible and especially the following:
* Luke’s Gospel – the New Revised Standard Version (used for examinations) but you are encouraged to try a number of different translations.

In addition, the following texts are useful:

1201 The figure of Jesus through the centuries

* For this paper it would also help enormously to have read the Gospels since these form the basis of most subsequent reflection.

1301 Religion and religions

See you in October!

Iliyana Angelova
Director of Studies for Theology and Religion, St Peter’s College, Oxford